

MINDsprinting Debuts Live Homework Help

MINDsprinting (www.mindsprinting.com), the nation's premier provider of affordable, directed worksheet tutoring programs in reading and math, proudly announces the debut of its Live Homework Help.

(PRWeb) January 20, 2007 -- MINDsprinting (www.mindsprinting.com), the nation's premier provider of affordable, directed worksheet tutoring programs in reading and math, proudly announces the debut of its Live Homework Help. The new addition is a real-time tutoring service that allows enrollees to interact with a live tutor using voice and virtual whiteboard technology. The new service compliments MINDsprinting's proven worksheet programs, which are tailored to individual students' needs based on the results of a diagnostic assessment test (which is also available for free on MINDsprinting's homepage). The live tutoring program is the most affordably priced of its kind in the industry.

"Live Homework Help offers immediate help via voice, text or whiteboard technology. This service is a viable solution for parents whose children need a little extra assistance with their MINDsprinting programs or their school homework. It enables MINDsprinting to offer a complete tutoring solution - a diagnostic assessment test, a tailored self-paced curriculum, assigned lessons, and additional assistance for those who need it. And like all of our programs, it is affordable. We're trying to help the average family obtain the type of educational assistance they need - and which was unaffordable before MINDsprinting" said Steven Golden, Co-founder and CEO of MINDsprinting.

Customized Learning

Live Homework Help is part of an overall group of customized tools that diagnose students' abilities and needs, create tailored programs, and assign students lessons that permit them to learn at their own pace (making it ideal for remedial and enrichment students). Students only advance when they have mastered the skill being studied. "Our programs address the student's level of understanding and ensure mastery of the subject material. Too many programs today only help students complete a homework problem without identifying the missing skill causing the problem and addressing that skill. Because we have a proven curriculum, our tutors can identify the missing skill and direct the student to specific lessons to master it. We don't just help your child answer today's homework problem correctly - we help her improve her skills so she can do tomorrow's homework and next week's lessons by herself. And that builds self esteem." stated Golden.

About MINDsprinting

Headquartered in Miami, MINDsprinting offers tailored, directed worksheet programs at affordable prices. Students can use MINDsprinting anywhere they have access to the Internet and a printer.

###

Contact Information

Lewis Fein

MINDsprinting.com

<http://www.mindsprinting.com>

310-472-0520